2. Management Analysis

a) Details relating to the change in the FI's reserve, income, and liquidity in the quarter (if any) and its main reason.

The income for the current period has marginally declined compared to the corresponding period of the previous year, primarily due to lower business momentum, reduced yields, and the non-recognition of interest income from Stage 3 (non-performing) loans. Furthermore, returns from non-interest income and investments have decreased, influenced by ongoing political instability and various economic movements affecting the overall national economy. Despite these challenges, the company remains focused on enhancing portfolio quality and optimizing overall returns. However, the Non-Performing Loan (NPL) ratio has increased compared to the previous quarter.

In terms of liquidity, the finance remains well-positioned with ample funds available for lending's. The market continues to have high liquidity levels and overall lending rates are gradually declining in line with reduced base rates. The ALCO is actively managing its interest rate and liquidity risks through prudent practices and aims to maintain stable and sustainable performance moving forward.

b) Management's analytical details regarding future business plan:

ICFC Finance Ltd has laid out a strategic business plan aimed at achieving sustainable and balance growth. The company aims to improve financial performance, deliver value to shareholders, and support inclusive financial access across its service areas.
